The future of work

As working from home has become a popular option, modern offices have to stand out and add real value. These spaces are not just about work; they are about creating environments that resonate with the rhythm of collaboration and individual growth, that are more sustainable and adaptable, that embrace areas for collaboration, health, and wellbeing. It's places like these where every interaction can enrich a collective culture and spark innovation.

Long before Neukölln became a lifestyle magnet, the district attracted engineering, logistics, and port companies with the expansion of the Berlin waterways. A hot spot for movers and shakers: a hundred years later, the imposing industrial cranes tower over the waterside promenade. You can feel the wind, water, and vibe when you stand at the Kaimauer wall. This is where history and a new beginning converge. Open and social at all times, as exchange and community have always been the best drivers of innovation. Since always.

DELIVERY DOXS is supplied by 171 restaurants

The Neukölln Ship Canal combines Sonnenallee with Maybachufer, caresses neighborhoods and cultures, and has always supported industrial and social transformations. A true original. The area surrounding Ziegrastrasse is a hot spot for culture, art, pop-ups, and flea markets in industrial halls and is developing into a hub for visionaries. An area once dedicated to the transport of containers and railroad scrap on ships is now home to social associations, convention centers, underground clubs, and start-ups that not only share space, but also a passion for all things new, contemporary, and extraordinary. Typical Neukölln.

If you want to help shape the flow, you have to go where the water is.

Kiehlufer

An architectural rendering of a modern building with a public plaza and waterfront. The building features large glass windows and a prominent, angled concrete structure. The plaza is paved with light-colored tiles and has several people sitting on yellow chairs and a dog. A man in a white shirt and hat is waving. A dog is sitting on the plaza. The waterfront has a low wall and some plants. The sky is blue with some clouds. The overall atmosphere is bright and modern.

Harbour of Cultures

160 nations live in Neukölln together on an area of 45 km². Thus, the district is one of the most colorful and densely populated in Berlin. DOXS creates new spaces and places for a multitude of different uses and connects people, generations and culture.
